EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

This is a short summary of deliverable D0.3. The deliverable itself was the celebration in Palma de Mallorca (Spain) of the first LINC School (10-12 September 2012) and of the first LINC Workshop (13 September 2012).

School:

There were 23 registered students. On the one hand, all recruited ESRs and ERs attended: 11 ESRs (one from PIKS was yet not recruited) and 2 ERs (the one from AMB was not yet recruited). In addition to these 13 fellows, 5 additional researchers from partners participating in LINC (UIB, BIU and PIKS) registered to the School. The attendance was completed with 5 additional students external to LINC.

Short questionnaires were distributed among registered participants before (to estimate the level of knowledge about the School subjects) and after (to assess the satisfaction with the courses) the celebration of the School.

The organization of the School (announcement, topics, information on venue, information on the LINC network, etc.) as well as the registration process was centralized through the School web page: <http://ifisc.uib-csic.es/LINCschool/>. After the end of the School, that web page (conveniently linked from the main LINC climatelinc.eu web page) remains active as repository of the School materials: the URL <http://ifisc.uib-csic.es/LINCschool/page/show/id/2> contains the Program, with links to the School materials kindly provided by the course teachers:

Course 1: Basics of Climate Science (6 hours), by Prof. Eli Tziperman, Department of Earth and Planetary Sciences and School of Engineering and Applied Sciences, Harvard University, USA.

Course 2: Theory and Practice of Complex Networks (4 hours), by Prof. Albert Díaz-Guilera, Departament de Física Fonamental, University of Barcelona, Spain.

Course 3: Masterclass on Scientific Software Engineering (6 hours), by Alja Vrieling and Johan Dijkzeul, VORtech, Delft, The Netherlands

In addition to written materials, the teachers of courses 2 and 3 kindly accepted to be recorded in video, so that these lectures are available for re-viewing at the above Course's URLs (in the case of course 3, videos and materials are protected by a password that was distributed to School attendants and that would be given to the Project Officer under request).

The courses were complemented with a public lecture by Prof. Shlomo Havlin, from Bar-Ilan University, that was also recorded in video and available at <http://ifisc.uib-csic.es/seminars/seminar-detail.php?indice=983>. Two short videos addressed to a wide audience were also recorded and posted as 'Outreach videos' at <http://ifisc.uib-csic.es/LINCschool/page/show/id/14>. An excursion to the Northwest of Mallorca (<http://ifisc.uib-csic.es/LINCschool/page/show/id/7>) closed the School.

Workshop:

Representatives from all LINC partners, including the recruited ESRs and ERs, attended the workshop. Information to attend and the workshop, including a link to the agenda and presentations is available from (<http://www.climatelinc.eu/events/mallorcameeting/>), and was also posted in <http://ifisc.uib-csic.es/LINCschool/page/show/id/9>,
